

Truck driver killed in bizarre accident involving crane at Bayport Terminal

The driver was killed when a crane attempted to lift a container from the truck, but the truck's cabin was not detached. The driver was still inside the truck.

Author: Chloe Alexander Published: 12:46 PM CST February 21, 2020 Updated: 12:46 PM CST February 21, 2020

HARRIS COUNTY, Texas — A truck driver was killed Friday in a bizarre accident at the Bayport Terminal in southeast Harris County.

According to officials with the Port of Houston, a crane was attempting to lift a container from the truck, but the cabin of the truck was not detached.

The crane lifted the entire truck with the driver still inside.

Officials said the driver was killed but did not give any details on how the driver died.

An investigation is underway as to how this incident happened.

The driver's identity has not been released.