

Container truck driver killed in Tanjung Priok port

Jakarta – July 9, 2021 by admindigi

A truck driver was involved in an accident at the port of Tanjung Priok, North Jakarta. The victim died after being hit by a container.

Tanjung Priok police chief Bhutto Jules Ariana confirmed the accident. The accident occurred around 17:00 WIB this afternoon.

“That’s right, the Casatriscream team and the team are currently investigating the crime scene,” Boto Coles Ariana said. detik.com When calling on Friday (9/7/2021).

Meanwhile, Bhutto could not explain the chronology of the accident in more detail. The Inafis Police Team of Tanjung Priok Resort is still investigating the crime scene at the crime scene.

“The team is still inspecting and treating the crime scene,” Bhutto said. “It’s not over yet.”

David Canetero, head of the Tanjung Priok port police’s criminal investigation unit, who was contacted separately, said his party was still investigating the case. The victim is suspected of having had an accident on the job.

“While we are still at the crime scene, this looks like an accident,” David said.

David said the victim, the truck driver, was killed in the container. It is not yet known why the container collided with the truck being driven by the victim.

“So the driver arrived in a container, we’ll first make sure we’re still at the scene,” David said.

Moreover, David explained that the truck driver died at the scene of the accident. To date, they are still investigating the cause of death.

“He died on the spot, right. We’re still investigating the cause,” David said.
