

MAN DIES IN EXPLOSION IN PARANAGUÁ PORT AREA

April 21, 2022 - 4:44 PM - Updated April 21, 2022 - 4:45 PM

A worker died in a serious accident in the port area of Paranaguá, on the coast, this Thursday morning (21). The man, whose identity was not disclosed, was hit by an explosion in a vegetable oil storage tank in one of the units of the Fertipar company, on Rua Comendador Correia Junior, in the 29 de Julho neighborhood.

(Photo: Playback/Google Street View)

According to information from Folha do Litoral, the victim was doing maintenance work at the terminal when the tank exploded. Teams from the Fire Department and the Mobile Emergency Care Service (SAMU) were called to rescue, but the victim could not resist the injuries.

The body was sent to the Legal Medical Institute (IML) of Paranaguá to undergo additional tests. The area in which the accident occurred has been isolated so that the expertise can investigate what caused the accident.

The RICmais Portal contacted the company Fertipar and is awaiting a response from the legal sector. More Information soon.