Person Fatally Hit by Truck in Boston Shipping Terminal

Officials didn't immediately release details about what happened in the crash or the name of the person who was killed

Safety officials at the Conley Container Terminal in Boston on Wednesday, June 15, 2022, after a person hit by a truck died.

A person was hit by a truck and killed at Boston's container ship terminal Wednesday, officials said.

The person was struck by the truck at Conley Container Terminal in the Boston Seaport about 11:40 a.m., according to the Massachusetts State Police. Police initially said they worked at the facility, but Massport later clarified that the victim was a truck driver, not an employee of the terminal.

The Terminal was closing for the rest of Wednesday, according to Massport.

Officials didn't immediately release details about what happened in the crash or the name of the person who was killed. Massport released a brief statement Wednesday afternoon.

"The safety and security of those that use our facilities is our top priority. The unfortunate accident this morning involved the death of a truck driver accessing Conley on behalf of a private trucking company. An investigation into the accident is currently underway."

This breaking news story will be updated when more information is available.
