

Investigation launched into deaths on Manx registered bulk carrier

News Home More from Isle of Man News

Saturday, July 2nd, 2022 8:40am

Three stevedores die in Indonesia

An investigation has been launched on behalf of the Isle of Man Ship Registry into the deaths of three stevedores aboard a Manx flagged ship in Indonesia.

It will be carried out by the UK's Marine Accident Investigation Branch.

The stevedores were in the cargo hold of the Manx registered bulk carrier, Berge Mawson, during an operation to load coal at the Bunyu anchorage in Indonesia on Tuesday.

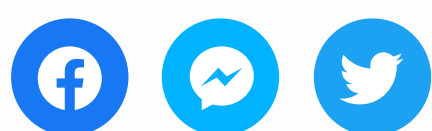

The 92,000 tonne Berge Mawson was built in Japan in 2015 and is managed by Berge Bulk Maritime PTE based in Singapore.

As the vessel is registered under the Manx flag the responsibility for the investigation rests with the Isle of Man Ship Registry.

© Dinesh Kumar Sharma
Dinesh Kumar Sharma

Share

More from Isle of Man News

DoI considering 'non-standard' warning sign for horse trams

One accident recorded on tracks since start of 2022

Island has no plans to replicate UK Down syndrome law

But legislation could be considered as part of other bills

'Alternative flights available' for S100 & MGP travel

MHK's message comes amid disruption to loM-Manchester route

Manx Care working to support Lloyds during current staffing crisis

People advised to collect repeat prescriptions in plenty of time

Peel gearing up for 'The Big Sale'

European style market taking place in the west

Former health minister believes pharmacy competition is needed in north

Reports of long queues for people to pick up medication

Choose your broadband & talk plan

FANCY A PIZZA?

CLICK HERE!

Hospice Lottery

WIN CASH MONTHLY

£1,000

and help make a life-changing difference

T&Cs apply. Players must be over 16.