Civitavecchia, worker dies at 29 overwhelmed by a container

by admin_l6ma5gus February 10, 2023

New tragedy at work. A worker died at the port of Civitavecchia after being run over by the container he was transporting with the forklift. The victim is a 29-year-old, Alberto Motta, an employee of the company that manages the container terminal, RTC. The accident occurred at dawn this morning, February 10, at platform 25.

Less than 24 hours ago, in Trieste, another worker lost his life at the port of Trieste. This was the 58-year-old Paolo Borselli, who fell into the sea with the forklift. Colleagues immediately called for help and raised the alarm, but the man didn't make it. Borselli was an employee of ALPT, the Trieste Port Workers Agency.

“Just 20 days have passed, and it is again tragedy at work in the area. Also this time a young worker engaged in the handling operations at the container terminal in the port of Civitavecchia lost his life. The news is still fragmentary and the Border Police are carrying out the surveys to understand the dynamics of the fatal accident”, written in a note by Carlo Costantini and Marino Masucci, general secretaries of Cisl Roma Capitale Rieti and Fit-Cisl Lazio.
