

A container fell on the trailer, and the 73-year-old driver died at Honmoku Futo, Yokohama

August 2, 2024 1:48

On the morning of the 2nd, a container fell on a trailer at Honmoku port in Yokohama City, Kanagawa Prefecture, and a 73-year-old man, the driver in the truck, died.

According to the police, after 9:30 a.m. on the 2nd, there was a call to 119 that "a container fell in the driver's seat of a large truck" at Honmoku Futo in Naka-ku, Yokohama.

When loading a container on the back of a trailer, it is believed that it fell accidentally.

Matsuo Nakazawa, who was driving a trailer in this accident, was taken to the hospital with cardiopulmonary arrest, but his death was confirmed around 12:30 p.m.

The police are investigating the cause of the accident in detail with a view to the suspicion of manslaughter in business.