

Cable breaks at Ancona and hits a worker: a 33-year-old dies

10 June 2019

ANCONA - Mortal accident at the port of Ancona, around 7.20 am, at the quay 23 of the new dock where container ships dock. An Italian 33-year-old died after being hit in the neck by a steel cable, used to moor ships, which suddenly broke.

The 118 and the Yellow Cross health officials intervened and were only able to ascertain the death of the 33-year-old. On the spot the soldiers of the harbor master's office who gave the first aid and are trying to reconstruct the dynamics of the accident.

The victim is a 33-year-old shipping agent, a father of two children, an employee of an agency in Ancona, therefore not directly interested in the mooring of the ship at the quay but who was assisted in loading and unloading the goods