A 53-year-old worker died after a painful work accident during the unloading of a ship, after steel coils fell on him... An incident reminiscent of the cruelty of the sea's occupation and its danger at every moment.

The man went out to ask for his livelihood, but he returned as a shroud...
He left while doing his work, amid fatigue, pressure and great responsibility.
We belong to God and to Him we shall return
Oh God, have mercy on him and forgive him, and make his resting place heaven,
And bind to the heart of his family

This incident is not just news...
This is a warning bell that we must all surpass:
Safety is not a luxury... Safety is life or death.
All greetings and appreciation to all port and sea men
Those who work at daily risks for a living.
