

Woman dies in workplace accident at Antwerp port

A woman lost her life in a workplace accident at the port of Antwerp on Friday afternoon. She ended up underneath a forklift at Quay 118. The Labour Auditor's Office is investigating the precise circumstances of the accident.

10 July 2026 at 16:31

The accident occurred shortly after 12:00 PM at Quay 118. "A woman ended up underneath a forklift there," confirms Danaïs Fol of the Antwerp Labour Auditor's Office. Emergency services arrived in large numbers, but nothing could be done to save the victim; she succumbed to her injuries at the scene.

The federal police drew up an official report. "The Well-being at Work Inspectorate made the initial findings and has already questioned several witnesses. The employer will also be questioned. The Labour Auditor's Office is investigating the precise circumstances of the accident," said Fol.